Handsome Costumes.

It will be worth one's while to take in the Mikado next Monday evening, if only to see the magnificent costumes of the Thompson Opera Company. Any one who has heard the opera knows what a splendid chance it gives for fine costuming, and the Thompson Company has used this advantage for all it is worth. The costumes were purchased and made up in Yokahama especially for this company. The Thompson Company had the largest run in Cincinnati, where they sang the Mikado at the Highland House, that any show has ever had in that city; and they turned people away for want of room every Jack o' Diamonds.

The Grand tast evening contained but a moderate sized audience, although the Jack o' Dismonds, as put on by Frederick Bryton and his company, was deserving of a royal reception and a big house. The play is good, much above the medium, and the characters were all well sustained. Mr. Bryton is one of the eleverest actors on the stage, full of originality and entirely at home on the stage, but the name of his play and the paper he uses in advertising it are so strong a combination against him that it will draw lightly until both are changed. The same play with the same people, under a different name, and a taking one, would make a great difference in the popular support Mr. Bryton would receive. Those who went were delighted, but many stayed away because the name of the play and the show-bills smacked too much of the Bowery style of performances.

CLUBBED IN.

A Lively Fracas with a "Drunk and Disorderly." [From Morning Edition.]

As a sequel to the arrest of Frank Wagner Tuesday afternoon comes the clubbing match with Ed Palmer last night. It appears that Paimer was with Wagner during the day, and after Officer Norton arrested Wagner he had a talk with Palmer, who applied some very hard names to the official. Why he was not "run in" at the time is not known, but at about 10 o'clock last night Officers Norton, Mast and Bass went down to Myers' livery stable after l'almer. After some parley with the night clerk of the stable they were admitted, and ascending the dark stairway by the aid of matches they found Palmer asleep on a rude couch and only half dressed. With him was quietly sleeping one Pat. Hennessy, whom they concluded to take to make a good double.

Paimer was slow getting ready and the officers finally concluded to take him half dressed, bareheaded and baretooted to the station. Before they got out of the stable he and Officer Norton had some high words about the trouble during the day, and Palmer, who was under the charge of Mast, became very much enraged and attempted to strike the officer. This was followed by a struggle between Palmer and Mast, in which Norton took part. The struggle continued until they reached the sidewalk, when Norton used the Twenty-five | club to good effect, which soon brought Palmer to time, and caused him to cry out, 'don't let bim beat me to death," while he tried to shield himself behind Officer Mast, The noise soon attracted quite a crowd, and the prisoners were soon hustled off to the station, where the charge of drunk, disorderly and resisting an officer was placed against Palmer, and a plain drunk against the demure and unfractious Pat Hennessy.

STRANGE STORIES

fold About the Social Leaders of New Carliste.

[From Morning Edition.] Down in the peaceful village of New Car-ile there is probably more gossip and groundless scandal to the square inch than in any town in the state. Although the place has only about 1,200 inhabitants, its little square is crowded with people from sundown until long into the night. The principal corner is the inter-section of Main and Jefferson streets. Here the people congregate as soon as the vesper ian hash is disposed of and spend their time n pressing brick and exchanging the choice tid-bits of gossip. One had much better be a candidate for president of the United States than permit his character to get into the bands of these rustic viviscetionists. About every so often the rumor reaches this city of a big sensation in New Carliele, and when it is hunted down it is generally found to have originated in some insinuating remark dropped by an idler on the corner of Main and Jefferson streets. Yesterday evening a GLOSE RECUBLIC reporter went down to see their wonderful village and look up the latest reported sensation. This rumor was one involving four of the gayest and most respectable young people in the town Whether or not there was anything in it was the problem to be solved. No names are No names are used for obvious reasons, as the purpose of the present report manner in down manner in which such pernicious rumors circulate than to pull down names that hold a high position in the estimation of the community. The reporter mingled with the crowd and drew one or two of the villagers into conver-sation. From them he learned that he would bave his bands tull it he attempted to handle half the sensations that were brewing. When replied, "Ob. yes! Everybedy knows that story. Those two young fellows are too fly; they will get into trouble before long. They have been cutting all sorts of slastics with those two young girls. Why, one of the couples was over in Troy a couple of days week before last, and in Springfield two or three days last week." Careful investigation and interviews with no less than eight crizens of more or less prominence proved that all knew just about as much as the first speaker. Some very dark things were told about the gay young people end if bull that they said is either be three or four weddings or some very strange developments in New Carlisle in the near future.

What the Shakers Believe About Disease,...They have learned from many years' experience, that nine-tenths of all the diseases of mankind arise from imperfect digestion of food; for this reason they have spent years of labor in preparing the Shaker Extract of Roots (Siegel's Syrup) and it opporates like a charm in all cases of indigestion.

It is not what we cat that makes us strong, but that which we digest. This is the doc-trine of the Mount Lebanon Shakers. People who are weak and languid, tired and feefood eaten does not give strength because it is not digested. The Shaker Extract of Roots (Siegel's Syrup) will restore the digestion to a healthy condition and drive away the head-ache, the pains in the side and back, the distress after eating and make the sleep afford
